

Dr. Sanaz Khalili Tehrani

M.D., FRACP

Speciality: Internal Medicine Physician

Address: Railway St.

CHATSWOOD, NSW 2067

Telephone: 02 9411 3929

Fax: 02 9411 5989

Dr. Tehrani is an Internal Medicine specialist with a special interest in Respiratory Medicine, pre-operative assessment and Geriatric Medicine. She has completed her FRACP training in the Northern Sydney Local Health District and obtained her fellowship of the Royal Australian College of Physicians in March 2016. Dr. Tehrani has more than 10 years' experience of practicing medicine in different hospitals in Brisbane and Sydney. She currently practices in the Western Sydney local Health district public hospitals as staff specialist and has private rooms in Chatswood.

Dr. Tehrani enjoys managing complex multi-system medical problems and practices with strong evidence-based approach and integrity. She also speaks Persian. She is specifically interested in:

- All acute complex multi-system medical issues
- Follow up and management of chronic medical conditions
- Special interest in general respiratory medicine
- Pre-operative assessment
- Special interest in managing complex medical issues in the aged population [Geriatric Medicine]

Dr. Tehrani has also been actively involved in teaching medical students in University of Sydney in the past and is currently affiliated with the University of Western Sydney. She has completed multiple research projects in the field of Internal Medicine and Thoracic Medicine with international and national publications and presentations.

For all the appointments, please contact the private rooms.